The ErgoPro Motion is the newest version of Productive Practices' ergonomically designed operatory stools, which combines unparalleled support with an elegant design. Its unique mechanism is the core of the stool's ability to adjust to an individual's personal seating requirements. When set in "free motion", the back and seat of the stool will hydraulically follow one's movement.

The backrest and entire stool can be individually adjusted for height.

Available shoulder support system (Relax and Hydro Armrests) offer relief to the neck and back, while providing full range of motion for both arms. The "Relax" and "Hydro" support Arms swing laterally side-to-side and telescope forward and back. The Hydro adds a third dimension through its tension-adjustable up and down motion.
